ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

As political beings, human interaction is very essential. No man is an island is indeed very true and accurate. Thus, I wish to show my sincere appreciation to the exceptional and selfless individuals that helped me in the success of this research work.

I want to thank the Chancellor of Covenant University, Dr. David Oyedepo for his vision of ensuring a platform of academic excellence in an environment that encourages and supports mediocrity. I want to thank the Vice-Chancellor, Prof Adebayo H. Abiodun for believing in this vision, the Registrar, Dr. Oluwasegun P. Omidiora, the Dean, School of Postgraduate Studies, Prof. Akan B. Williams, the Dean, College of Leadership and Development Studies, Professor Olujide Adekeye, the Head, Department of Political Science and International Relations, Prof. Daniel E. Gberevbie and the entire management of this great institution.

I am full of gratitude to my parents Elder and Barr (Mrs.) O. Okoye for their faith and belief in my future. To my brothers, Chinedu and Chukwunonso and my sisters, Yenimi and Chinwendu Okoye, I say a big thank you. My Chim Chim, I love you dearly.

I am also full of appreciation for my dissertation supervisor, Dr. Felix Chidozie, who reviewed my work even at short notice and is available to correct and offer advice. I also want to thank him for the life experiences he shared that reshaped my views about life.

My heartfelt gratitude goes to Professor Sheriff Folarin, Professor Daniel E. Gberevbie, Dr. Jide Ibietan, Dr. Moses Duruji, Dr. Kester Onoh, Dr. Samuel Oni who taught me in the course of my course work and this research. I am grateful for your counsel, comments, support, and motivation. I must thank Engineer Kamil Okedara, Dr. Muyiwa Oladuson, Prof David Omole, Prof David Olukanni, and the Head of WaterAid services in Nigeria, Mr. Adebayo Aloa for giving the time to interview them for this work. I am deeply grateful.

My appreciation goes to my beloved parents, particularly my mum who was a huge support to me throughout this academic journey. I pray that God in His infinite mercies will keep you and preserve you to reap the fruits of your labor.

I remain indebted to my friends, particularly Dee, words are not just enough! You are indeed God sent. Thank you so much. And to Pamela, Kuro, Chioma, Ebere, Samantha, Esther, Cornelius, Opeyemi, Favor, and Agape. We came, we saw and we CONQUERED!!!! And to Layo Joy, thank you for being a wonderful roommate.

ABSTRACT

This study examined the domestication of sustainable development goal 6 which ensures access to clean water and sanitation for all. Specifically, this study explains the challenges of implementing SGD6 in Ado/Odo Ota Local Government Area in Ogun State. It looks at the importance of clean water, sanitation and hygiene in Nigeria and the LGA. Using both the quantitative and qualitative method of data collection, it studies the WASH policy and laws in Nigeria. It adopted the development theory and establishes the link between the importance of Goal 6 and sustainable development. The data for this work were gathered from both the primary and the secondary sources. Structured interviews were also conducted with experts in this field. The content analysis technique was used to analyze the data gotten from the secondary source while the SPSS statistical tool was used to analyze the primary data. The findings revealed that domestication of clean water, sanitation and hygiene for all has not been fully implemented in Nigeria. It also discovers that there is no development plan for the water sector hence the difficulty in implementation. Therefore, the study recommends that the government should review the existing water polices, end open defecation and ensure effective institutions. Also, there should be massive sensitization and advocacy in this regard.
